HISTORICAL NOTE

The Here Is New York Collection comprises original photographic prints, business documents and background on the exhibition of the same name, arranged by: Alice Rose George, a curator and photography editor; Gilles Peress, a documentary photographer; Michael Shulan, a writer; and Charles Traub, chair of the MFA Photography program at the School of Visual Arts (who was responsible for the donation of this particular set to the Glaser Archives). The Here Is New York exhibition presented a wide array of images relating to the attacks of the World Trade Center in New York on 11 September 2001; subtitled “a democracy of images,” it made a point of accepting submissions from all corners, and hanging amateur and professional photography side-by-side.

The resulting collection of images was stored and reproduced digitally, and original prints were made available on a website, <http://www.hereisnewyork.org>, priced at $25 each. Proceeds were donated to the World Trade Center Relief Fund of the Children’s Aid Society. The response was immense: more than 4000 photographs were submitted, $500,000 raised from the sale of digital prints, their website received 100 million hits, and rotating sets of photographs from the collection were exhibited all over the world (the Glaser Archives’ collection contains the set of selected photographs that made its debut at the Memorial City Hall in Houston on 14 September 2002).

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The Here Is New York Collection contains inventoried photographic prints from the exhibition of the same title, as well as unsorted test or study printings, a few original collages and photographs, press releases and clippings, business certificates and correspondence, legal documents, inventories, digital files, and miscellaneous media not directly related to the exhibition (magazines and videos presumably used for research).

Series 1. This series contains a single set, in two boxes, of photographic prints that were first exhibited in Houston, Texas in 2002. The selection of 500 photographs represents one of many iterations of the Here Is New York exhibition. Each photograph is identified with a number which is indexed to photographer's name in the finding aid. Additional information, principally concerned with copyright but also often including contact information ca. 2005 can be found in two locations: digital spreadsheets (Series 5, Subseries B) and the original physical inventories (Series 5, Subseries A).

Series 2. Here Is New York, Inc. referred to alternates and seconds as "study prints;" these may not have been considered "originals" in the sense of the prints that were exhibited and sold through the website. Composed of approximately 1000 prints, they are unidentified and unordered but represent significant overlap with the materials in Series 1. The fineness of their condition varies.

Series 3. This series contains a small number of original photographs in the form of both slides and chromogenic (non-inkjet) prints. This series also includes original art (e.g., collages) that was submitted to the project but was not exhibited.

Series 4. Press coverage was studiously documented by Here Is New York, Inc.: this series contains clippings from local and international magazines and newspapers. They have been ordered in the same sequence they were received.

Series 5. Internal files

Subseries A: Business documents includes official correspondence, including the bylaws of the corporation, approval of non-profit status, letters referring to grants awarded to the project and the donations it received, as well as everyday correspondence (largely email print-outs) concerning administrative issues. This subseries is restricted.

Subseries B. Digital files include medium-resolution scans for all of the photographs in series 1, though it is unclear if they include scans for all 4000 or so images that were accepted by Here Is New York, Inc. and exhibited in the alternate exhibitions. Some data formats—primarily for Microsoft Office applications—are also included, in their original arrangement. In both cases, the data exist on original CDs and on a centralized data server, except one floppy disk for which we do not have mirrored data.

Subseries C. In addition to the above materials, the donation also included magazines, clippings, VHS tapes and DVDs relating to the World Trade Center, the events of 11 September 2001, historical acts of similar scope, or exhibitions of similar character.

RESTRICTIONS

This collection, except for Series 5: Subseries A, is open for research.
Reproduction rights are limited.
